

Jan AngelFACTS

Representative Jan Angel claims that she supports health care and women's health, but her actions speak louder than her campaign rhetoric. Here are the facts about Angels' voting record and campaign contributions from insurance companies.

Q: Did Jan Angel really accept $100,000 from big insurance companies?

A: Yes. Jan Angel and the Political Action Committees (PACs) supporting her campaign have accepted more than $100,000 in contributions from large insurance companies and their PACs. (Public Disclosure Commission)

Q: Who are these insurance companies?

A: Many of them are American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC) members, including the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI) Political Activity Fund, Farmers Insurance (aka Farmers or Farmers Underwriters Association) and Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. Others are also big out-of-state donors, including Cambia Health Solutions from Oregon, Allstate Insurance and Property Casualty Insurance Association from Illinois, Progressive Insurance from Ohio, and USAA from Texas.

Q: Are there any other big corporations supporting Jan?

A: Jan Angel has taken thousands of dollars from out of state corporations, led by Big Insurance companies. If you look at janangelfacts.com/buyingjan, you will see that her second biggest source of dirty money comes from Big Tobacco at just under $35,000. Big Beer companies donated more than $30,000, Big Pharma gave $20,000, the Koch Brothers' Georgia Pacific gave $17,000, Big Coal gave $12,000, and payday loan shark Cash America gave $4,000.

Q: Why are insurance companies working so hard to elect Jan Angel?

A: Because Jan Angel has sided with insurance companies instead of Washington families time and time again. She sponsored legislation that would have eliminated life-saving cancer screenings and cut coverage for diabetes and autism screenings for kids (House Bill 1361). This bill would have overturned Washington state's strong requirements for health insurance plans, including a requirement that mammograms are covered in our state.

Angel also co-sponsored a bill to deny coverage for children with pre-existing conditions (House Bill 1804). HB 1804 would have prevented Washington state from spending any money to implement the Affordable Care Act, which ensures that kids can no longer be denied coverage for pre-existing conditions, extends coverage to all dependents under the age of 26, provides preventive care such as cancer screenings and birth control with no co-pay, and many more great advances in health care.
